

Why?

Why do you think owls are awake at night?

Owls hunt small animals that sleep during the day.

These animals come out at night. So owls come out at night, too!

This owl lives in a country called England. Find England on the map on the back page.

That's Cool!

Meet the pink fairy armadillo.

A pink fairy armadillo is about as long as your hand. They eat bugs.

A shell covers its head, back, and behind. The shell protects the armadillo from hungry animals.

SHELL

These critters use their big claws to dig tunnels. Tunnels are where they live.

The pink fairy armadillo lives in a country called Argentina. Find Argentina on the map on the back page.

Hanging With Mom

Baby orangutans learn to live in the trees. They learn it all from Mom.

Mom hangs.
She climbs.
The baby watches and tries. Soon,
the baby
will climb,
just like Mom.

The baby watches Mom find food. Soon, the baby
will find its own food,
just like Mom.

Orangutans
eat mostly fruit.
They also eat
bark, leaves, and roots.

Babies are born in nests high up in trees.

It is time to sleep. Mom builds a nest in the trees. One day, the baby will build its own nests, just like Mom. But for now, snuggling in Mom's nest is the best.

Orangutans live on two islands, Borneo and Sumatra. Find these islands on the map on the back page.

ANIMALS

Family Time for Hyenas

Hyenas live in big families. They work together to survive.

Some hyenas live in a country called Botswana. Find Botswana on the map on the back page.

Adult hyenas chase away lions from the group. Now the cubs stay safe.

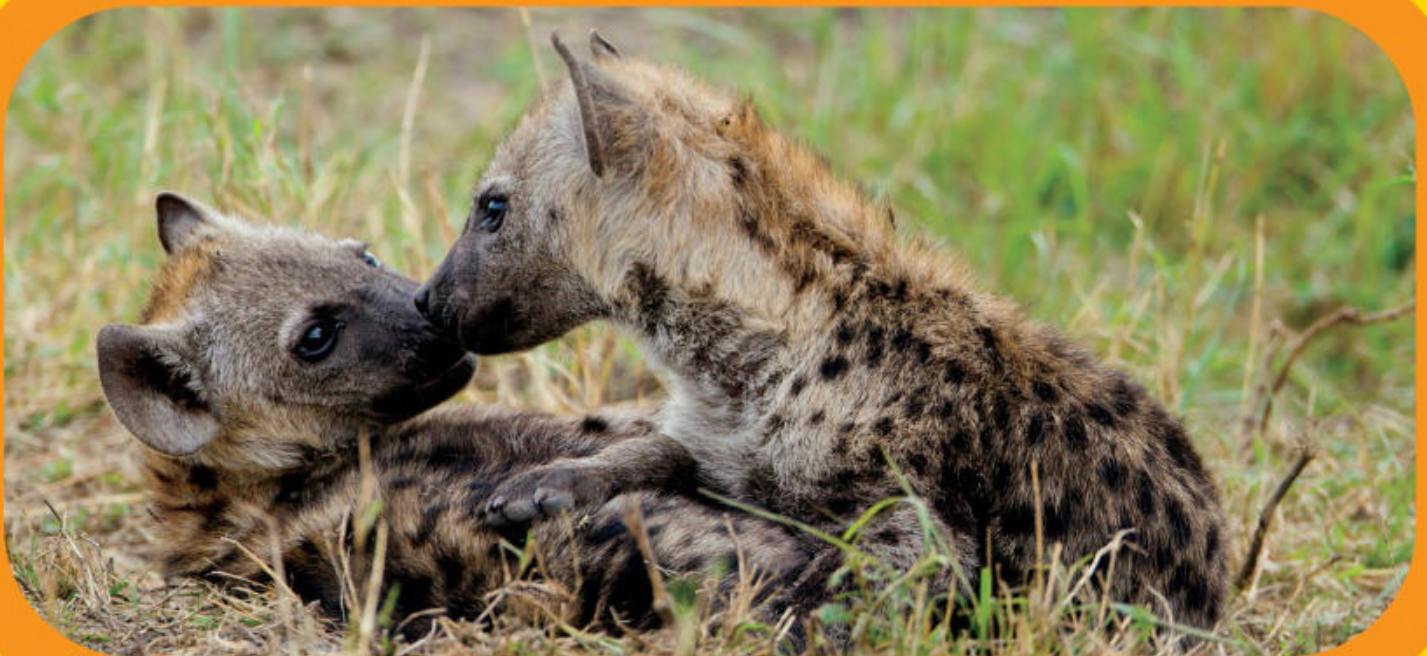

Adult hyenas also find food together. The group catches big animals.

A few older hyenas watch over cubs while the group hunts.

The cubs wrestle and play chase. This teaches them how to hunt. One day the cubs will work as a team, too!
